Please note that the debate camp sessions may be photographed or videotaped and the material may be used for instruction or promotion purposes.

WHAT IS IT?

A day camp with three days of learning, practicing and building confidence with the basics of public speaking and debate skills. While the focus is on debate, students interested in any public speaking will find the experience useful and rewarding.

“DON’T RAISE YOUR VOICE, IMPROVE YOUR ARGUMENT.”

Camp instructors, Veenu Goswami and Pardeep Dhaliwal display their awards, including the golden eagle 2010 World Championship trophy.

WHAT DOES IT COST?

The cost for the camp is $290. It runs for three days, July 2-4 from 8 am to 4:30 pm. The cost covers daily workshops, a morning snack, lunch and a final day BBQ. Dress comfortably and bring some appropriate gear for activities outside.

If you are from out of town you will need to arrange accommodation for the duration of the camp.

YOU CAN'T ARGUE WITH THEM

In 2010, the Canadian National Debate team won the World Schools Debate Championship in Doha, Qatar. The top speaker on that team was Veenu Goswami. His partner through high school was Pardeep Dhaliwal, who won top speaker at the European Invitational High School tournament in Frankfurt, Germany.

Veenu and Pardeep will be your instructors and joining them will be national level debaters and speakers who bring their particular styles and strengths to the podium. Imagine interacting with and learning from the best in the world! You just can't argue with them.
